A word about Spider rigging devices... Trustworthy
Rigging of suspended scaffolds all comes down to the support devices from which the stage hangs. There is no room to scrimp on this vital part of your suspended system. Know what you're getting and demand the best. For 65 years, Spider has been building quality rigging devices in the USA. We were first to market and fast to innovate at the request of customers for applications that needed that extra performance to make their work more productive. We continue to custom design rigging devices today.

There is a difference when it comes to rigging devices. Look for devices that meet the ANSI/SSFI SPS 1.1-1/03 standard. Spider assisted in pioneering this standard to help contractors evaluate rigging products that are built to a common testing and labeling standard. It's the sign of quality.
